

The Intelligent Washing Machine

My washing machine had stopped working,
What was actually wrong I can't say
But I jumped on a bus
To 'Washers-R-Us',
Got a new one delivered next day.

The man claimed 'This one is dead easy.
Turn this and press that and you'll see
The machine knows what's what
And whatever you've got
Will be washed, dried and come out crease-free.

'How does it do that?' I asked him.
'It seems far too clever to me.'
He looked very knowing
And as he was going
Said, 'A.I.Just wait and you'll see'.

Later I turned on my washer,
I couldn't believe what I'd seen
My spirits were dashed,
As the control panel flashed
And these warnings appeared on the screen.

'Your tea towels are old and disgusting.
Your bed linen's faded and thin.
Your bath towels are rough,
Blouses frayed at the cuff
And your knickers should go in the bin'.
